At a Meeting of the Council of the Surtees Society, held in the Castle of Durham on the 11th of March, 1858,

"It was Ordered, That Dugdale's Visitation of Yorkshire should form one of the publications of the Society for 1859, and that it should be edited by Mr. Davies of York."

And at a similar Meeting on the 25th of February, 1859,

"It was Ordered, That a volume of Heraldic Visitations should be the only publication of the Society for the current year."

PREFACE.

THE volume presented this year to the Surtees Society contains "The heraldic visitation of the county of York," made by Sir William Dugdale, then Norroy King of Arms, in the years 1665 and 1666. This valuable genealogical record is now for the first time printed entire from a copy in the handwriting of the late Dr. Raine, collated by the editor with Dugdale's original copy which has been for many years the property of Miss Currer of Eshton Hall, who has most kindly and liberally allowed the Society the use of it for this purpose.

Miss Currer's "noble" MS., as it has been justly designated by a high authority,* was stated in the proposals issued by a late accomplished genealogist † for publishing "Dugdale's Heraldic Visitation of Yorkshire with additions," to be the "only perfect copy out of the Heralds' College." It forms a large folio volume, consisting of nearly 300 leaves of paper, and containing the pedigrees of 472 families, a penand-ink drawing in trick of the armorial bearings of each family being placed at the head of the pedigree.

A small part of the contents of the volume is believed to be in the handwriting of Sir William Dugdale himself, but the greater number of the pedigrees, and of the shields of arms which are executed with much artistic spirit and elegance, are undoubtedly the work of Gregory King, afterwards Lancaster Herald, who was in Dugdale's service and accompanied him in all his visitations of the Northern counties. Sir William Dugdale appears to have retained possession of the MS. until he was created Garter King of Arms in April 1677. A few days after his promotion he presented the volume to Sir Henry St.George, his successor in the office of Norroy, who was at a later period advanced to the rank of Garter, and died in the year 1715. It was probably upon his death that the MS. passed into the possession of Robert Dale, who at that time was Blanch Lyon Pursuivant and Deputy Registrar of the College of Arms, and, it is said, had accompanied Sir Henry St.George when Clarencieux in some of his visitations.

A few months before his death, which happened in April 1722, Robert Dale was created Richmond Herald, and a son of his appears to have been the next possessor of the MS. The Dales sprang from a Yorkshire family of the agricultural class settled at Great Smeaton, a parish on the banks of the Tees, a few miles distant from Darlington, and this fact may perhaps diminish our surprise upon finding that during the latter part of the last century the volume had passed into the hands of a person in humble circumstances residing at Darlington, by whom it was offered for sale to the late George Allan, Esquire, the well known antiquary. Mr. Allan declined purchasing the MS., but took the opportunity of making a copy of it for his own use, and of this copy, which is now in the Library of the Dean and Chapter of Durham, he subsequently permitted several transcripts to be taken, one of which was made by the late Rev. James Raine, D.C.L., whose loss the Surtees Society has so much reason to deplore.

In the year 1797 the MS. was bought by the late Sir Mark Masterman Sykes, Baronet, of a Mr. W. Prince of York; and in the year 1824, when Sir M. M. Sykes's collections were dispersed by public auction, it was added to the treasures of Miss Currer's splendid library.

In transcribing and collating the present volume for the press, the Editor has been anxious that it should contain a faithful reproduction of Dugdale's MS. The peculiarities of the orthography, and especially the irregularities in the spelling of the names of persons and places, are scrupulously retained. A few errors of fact which have crept into some of the pedigrees are so obvious and unimportant that it seemed unnecessary to attempt any correction of them.

To those members of the Surtees Society who are acquainted with the localities it may not be uninteresting to trace the route taken by the illustrious herald in his Visitation of the great county of York nearly two centuries ago. On the 1st of August, 1665, Sir William Dugdale commenced his sittings at Doncaster, and during the former half of the month he held courts at Barnsley, Pontefract, Leeds, Knaresborough, and Skipton. From Skipton he crossed the mountainous country which divides the West and North Ridings, and on the 18th of August he arrived at Richmond, where he was occupied three or four days. Thence he passed to Thirsk, Stokesley, and Malton. Leaving Malton on the 30th of August he entered upon his Visitation of the East Riding at a small market town in the heart of the wolds called Kilham, where his court was attended by the heads of nearly twenty families then flourishing in the surrounding district, a few of which are still among the most distinguished of the gentry of that part of Yorkshire—the Boyntons, the Grimstones, the Legards, the Osbaldestons.

Besides Kilham, the only East Riding towns visited by Dugdale in this journey were Hull and Pocklington. On the 9th of September he commenced his sittings at York,* and remained there several days, his courts being attended by the gentry of the city and the immediate neighbourhood, and by many from more distant parts of the county. On the 14th of September he again sat at Doncaster, and from thence paid a second visit to Barnsley. On the 16th of September he sat at Rotherham, where he concluded the Visitation of this year.

In the spring of the following year Sir William Dugdale resumed his Visitation of Yorkshire. On the 14th of March, 1665-6, he set out from his own house, Blythe Hall in Warwickshire, and proceeded straight to York, where, on the 19th, he commenced his sittings, and was occupied several days in recording the genealogies of nearly forty families whose representatives attended his summonses from all parts of the county. From York he went to Ripon, where it does not appear that he transacted any business, and thence to Skipton. The pedigrees of the two families of Currer of Skipton and Currer of Kildwick seem to be the only results of his sitting at Skipton on this occasion. Whilst he was in this district he passed a few days with his friend and brother-antiquary Charles Fairfax esquire at his house at Menston near Otley; and on the 1st of April he was at Halifax, a town he had not previously visited. Thence he went to Leeds, Wakefield, Pontefract, Doncaster, and Sheffield. From Sheffield he returned home.

In the month of August Dugdale entered upon his Visitation of the counties of Durham and Northumberland; and on his way through Yorkshire he sat a few days at York. In September he returned into Yorkshire. On the 8th he was at Stokesley, and on the 10th at Malton. Thence he crossed the East Riding wolds to Beverley, resting a night at the "Golden Gryphon," at Kilham. After he left Beverley a few pedigrees appear to have been taken at Hull and Malton, but it may be inferred that Norroy himself went from Beverley to visit Lord Fairfax at Nun-Appleton,* where he arrived on the 17th of September. On the 21st he was again at his own residence in Warwickshire.

When Sir William Dugdale undertook his Heraldic Visitation of the Northern Counties he had passed the sixtieth year of his age. Yet all his journeys—and he must have traversed many a wild moor and rugged valley—were performed on horseback. His only companions were his two clerks, one of whom was Gregory King, then a youth of seventeen or eighteen years, but already remarkable for his skill in the transcribing of pedigrees, and the tricking and depicting of armorial bearings.†

It is evident that in the earlier years of the Restoration the pride of family was not universally prevalent in the county of York. Nearly one-third of the whole number of gentry whom the herald called upon to appear before him with proofs of their arms and pedigrees treated his summonses with neglect. The following precept, which was not issued by Dugdale until two years after he had concluded his Visitation

* He notes in his Diary that at this time he "borrowed of my Lord Fairfax 18 manuscript bookes which were Mr. Dodsworth's, whereof 15 are in folio and 3 in 4to."—Hamper's Life, p. 124.

To the High Sheriff of the County of York.

Whereas the King's most excellent Majesty, being desireous that the Nobility of this his Realm should be preserved in each degree as well in hon^r as in worship, and that every person and persons, bodies politic and corporate, and others, should be known in their states and mysteries without confusion and disorder, hath authorised me, William Dugdale, Esqre, Norroy King of Armes of the North East and West parts of this his Realm of England, not only to visit all the said province, and to peruse, take knowledge and . . . . . of all manner of Arms, Cognizances, Crests, and other like devices, with the notes of the Descents, Pedigrees, and Marriages of all the Gentry therein contained, but also to reprove, control, and make infamous by Proclamation all such as unlawfully and without just authority, vocation, or due calling do, or have done, or shall usurp or take upon him or them any name or title of honour or dignity, as Esquire, Gentleman, or other, forbidding also and straitly comanding all his Shireves, Commissioners, Archdeacons, Officials, Scriveners, Clerks, Writers, or other whatsoever they be, to call, name, or write in any Assize, Sessions Court, or other open place or places, or to use in any writing the addition of Esquire or Gentleman to any person or persons within this my province abovementioned, unless they be able to stand unto and justify the same by Law of Arms of this his Realm, or else be ascertained thereof by advertizement in writing from me the said Norroy King of Arms, my Deputy or Deputies, Attorney or Attornies, in that behalf, as by his said Majesties Commision, under the Great Seale of England, more fully doth appear.

Know ye therefore that I, the said Norroy, in pursuance and accomplishment of his said Majesties desire, and furtherance of his service herein, having in my last visit within this County of York, by due summons, required the persons whose names are hereunto annext, to shew unto me by what right they do use and bear any such Arms, Cognizances, and Crests as above . . . . . and take upon them those titles and dignities of Esqre or Gentleman, and having received no sufficient proof of such their right thereunto, and my own justifycation for allowance thereof according to the trust reposed in me by his said Majesty in that behalf, but that they have presumptuously usurped the same without any good ground or authority, contrary to all right, and to the ancient and laudable custome of this Realm and usage of the Law of Arms, do hereby declare that from henceforth they are not to use those Arms and Titles, upon such further pain and peril as by the Earl Marshal of England, or his Majesties most Honble Commissioners for the executing of that office, may be inflicted upon them; wherefore (in pursuance of his Majesties further pleasure signified in his Commission) I have thought fit hereby to advertize you and all other his Majesties good and loyall subjects of this County, that as you and they tender his said Majesties pleasure herein, from henceforth you forbear in any writing or otherwise to attribute unto them those additions of Esquire or Gentleman, until the said persons so assuming those titles shall stand to or justifye the same by the Law of Arms of this his Majesties Realm, or that you be ascertained thereof in writing by advertisement from me the said Norroy King of Arms, or my lawful Deputy or Deputies, Attorney or Attorneys in that behalf. Given at the Office of Arms, &c. this 24th day of November, 20th Charles 2d (1668).

Norroy King of Arms.

In this list may be recognised a few of the well-known antient gentry of the county, besides many heads of families whose descendants at this day would have rejoiced had they then placed their pedigrees upon record. But the majority of the names were probably then of little note, and are now wholly lost sight of.

Some light is thrown upon the circumstances which caused this inattention on the part of the gentry of Yorkshire, by the following passage of a letter addressed to Sir William Dugdale by his friend Charles Fairfax, in the month of June 1666 :—"I received your letter, wherein I have (so far as I could) observed your commands. Some gentlemen will attend you at the next assizes to whom I gave notice; but many (not sensible of the honour of their families) I find remiss, yet hope (upon their better thought) they will do right to posterity and give their attendance. Your too short stay in your several circuits (and their coincident appearances upon summonses before the Deputy Lieutenants) they alledge for excuse they could not wait on you." *

We must necessarily lament the absence of the pedigrees of so many families from that which was destined to be the last of the heraldic visitations of the great county of York; yet without them it contains a rich mine of genealogical and heraldic evidence, from whence all future labourers in those vast fields of Yorkshire history and topography which have been hitherto unexplored and uncultivated cannot fail to derive information and assistance of the highest value and importance.

The Council of the Surtees Society were desirous of appending to the present volume Sir William Dugdale's Visitation of the County Palatine of Durham. The only copy, however, of this record that they could obtain has been found to be so inaccurate and incomplete that they have resolved not to lay it before the Members of the Society.

In a° 1664, upon taking up of a large and thick marble stone, lying in the midst of the Church of BEVERLEY, neare ye Entrance into the Quire, there was found under it—

A Vault of squared freestone, five foot in length, two foot in breadth at ye head, and one foot and an halfe at the foot.

In which Vault there was—

A Sheet of Lead foure foot in length, contayning the Dust of ST. JOHN of BEVERLEY; as also six beades, whereof three were of Cornelian, the other crumbled to dust: there were also in it three great brasse pins, and foure iron nayles.

Upon this Sheet of Lead was fixed—

A Plate of Lead, whereon was this following inscription—

Also,

A Box of Lead, about seven inches in length, six inches broad, and five in heighth, lying athwert the plate of Lead.

In this Box were—

Divers peices of Bones, mixt with dust, yeilding a sweet smell.

All which were reinterred, by direction of the present Archbysshop of Yorke.

The inscription.

* This John Morris being bred up under the right Ho^ble Thomas late Earle of Strafford was first an Ensigne to his guards after the said Earle became Lord Lieutenant of Irel^d, and when the Rebellion brake forth in that Kingdome was made Serjeant Major to Sr Francis Willoughby Kn^t, Major Generall of his late Maties Army there: Where amongst many other his valiant exploits, this one is not a little remarkable, viz. that after he had recieved some dangerous wounds in the Storming of Rosse Castle, whence he was brought of in a Litter, the English Forces in another encounter against Generall Preston being routed and flying by him, when by perswasions he could not prevaile with them to stand, he got upon his led horse (though with much difficulty) and by his couragious example rallyed the disordered troops, and, charging the enemy in the very head of them, obtained an absolute and honourable victory.

After that he surprized the strong Castle of Pontfract, for King Charles the first, with the helpe of eight men besides himselfe, upon the 3^d of June, a° 1648, and valiantly defending it, during a long siege, untill after the murther of that King; and then being excluded the benefit of the articles, upon delivery thereof to those inhumane Regicides, it being the last in England that had held out against their usurped power, himselfe with two more excepted persons (whereof Michaell Blackburne his Cornet was one) and two servants, with great courage and resolution, made their way through two workes, guarded by about five hundred foot and horse, and got clere from them into Lancashire; having had a promise from Generall Lambert (who besieged him)

THE SURTEES SOCIETY.

REPORT FOR THE YEAR MDCCCLIX.

(Read at the General Meeting on the 24th of June.)

THE Surtees Society has now been in existence for a quarter of a century. During this long period it has not been idle. Thirty-five volumes, all illustrating the manners or the religion of the North of England, bear witness to its industry, and the increasing demand for these volumes is a sufficient test of their usefulness and popularity. There are at the present time very few public libraries in England of any importance that do not possess a set of the publications of the Surtees Society.

When the Society commenced its labours in 1834 it had a roll of one hundred and nine members, very many of whom were personal friends of the great historian of the Palatinate of Durham. Of these gentlemen nearly eighty are now no more. And as they are being gradually removed from us the Surtees Society must rely for its support not on those feelings of regard and attachment towards him in whose honour it was founded which called it, many years ago, into being, but on the excellence of its publications. This is now the true basis of its strength and the earnest of its future prosperity. The names of more than two hundred gentlemen are now enrolled upon the list of members, a number which tempts the Council to think that the Society has not laboured altogether in vain.

The Council most sincerely congratulate the members upon the present state of the finances of the Society. After several years of difficulty and almost of embarrassment a considerable and most satisfactory balance has been secured. For this the Council feel that they are greatly indebted to the painstaking and disinterested efforts of the late treasurer. It is impossible to estimate too highly the valuable services that Mr. Henderson has rendered to the Surtees Society. It was with great regret that the Council were obliged to accept his resignation, but it is most gratifying to them to find that in their present treasurer they have an officer who will vie with Mr. Henderson in his efforts to advance the best interests of the Society.

A suggestion has been made, and a most important one it is, that the Surtees Society should undertake the compilation of a Glossary of Old North Country Words and Phrases. Such a work, although necessarily laborious, would be most useful and acceptable. Were it merely explanatory of the curious words and terms that occur in the volumes which the Society has already issued the value of the work, especially to the members of the Surtees Society, would be very great. Such an undertaking would, perhaps, be more efficiently carried out by a combination of editors than by one; although, for the sake of arrangement and unity of plan, it might be necessary that some one person should superintend the whole. Several distinguished philologists have expressed a wish that the work should be undertaken and have promised their assistance. The Council hope, before long, to be able to carry this suggestion into effect.

THE SURTEES SOCIETY,

ESTABLISHED IN THE YEAR 1834,

In honour of the late Robert Surtees, of Mainsforth, Esquire, the Author of the History of the County Palatine of Durham, and in accordance with his pursuits and plans; having for its object the publication of inedited Manuscripts, illustrative of the intellectual, the moral, the religious, and the social condition of those parts of England and Scotland, included on the East between the Humber and the Frith of Forth, and on the West between the Mersey and the Clyde, a region which constituted the ancient Kingdom of Northumberland.

NEW RULES AGREED UPON IN 1849.

The Report of the Committee appointed at a General Meeting, held on the 7th February last, to revise the Rules of the Society, was taken into consideration, and the following Rules were adopted for the future government of the Society:—

I. The Society shall consist of an unlimited number of members.

II. There shall be a Patron of the Society, and the Right Reverend Edward Maltby, D.D., F.R.S., Lord Bishop of Durham, shall be the first Patron.

III. The Warden of the University of Durham for the time being shall be the President of the Society.

IV. There shall be twenty-four Vice-Presidents, of whom four shall be such of the Professors, Tutors, or Fellows of the University of Durham as shall be members of the Society. There shall also be a Secretary and two Treasurers.

V. The Patron, the President, the Vice-Presidents, the Secretary, and the Treasurers, shall form the Council, any five of whom, including the Secretary and a Treasurer, shall be a quorum competent to transact the business of the Society.

VI. The twenty-four Vice-Presidents, the Secretary, and the Treasurers, shall be elected at a general meeting, to continue in office for three years, and be capable of re-election.

VII. Any vacancies in the offices of Secretary or Treasurers shall be provisionally filled up by the Council, subject to the approbation of the next general meeting.

VIII. Three meetings of the Council shall be held in every year, one in each academical term of the University of Durham, at such place, and on such a day, as shall be fixed upon by the President, to be communicated by the Secretary to the members of the Council.

IX. The meeting in the Easter Term of each year shall be the anniversary, to which all the members of the Society shall be convened by the Secretary.

X. The President shall have the power of convening extraordinary meetings of the Council.

XI. Members may be elected by ballot at any one of the terminal meetings, upon being proposed in writing by three existing members. One black ball in ten shall exclude.

XII. Each member shall pay in advance to the Treasurer the annual sum of one guinea. If any member's subscription shall be in arrear for two years, and he shall neglect to pay his subscription after having been reminded by the Treasurer, he shall be regarded as having ceased to be a member of the Society.

XIII. The money raised by the Society shall be expended in publishing such compositions, in their original language, or in a translated form, as come within the scope of this Society, without limitation of time with reference to the period of their respective authors. All editorial and other expenses to be defrayed by the Society.

XIV. One volume, at least, in a closely printed octavo form, shall be supplied to each member of the Society every year, free of expense.

XV. If the funds of the Society in any year will permit, the Council shall be at liberty to print and furnish to the members, free of expense, any other volume or volumes of the same character, in the same or a different form.

XVI. The number of copies of each publication, and the selection of a printer and publisher, shall be left to the Council, who shall also fix the price at which the copies not furnished to members shall be sold to the public.

XVII. The armorial bearings of Mr. Surtees and some other characteristic decoration connecting the Society with his name, together with the armorial bearings of the University of Durham, shall be used in each publication.

XVIII. A list of the officers and members, together with an account of the receipts and expenses of the Society, shall be made up every year to the time of the annual meeting, and shall be submitted to the Society to be printed and published with the next succeeding volume.

XIX. No alteration shall be made in these rules except at an annual meeting. Notice of any such alteration shall be given, at least, as early as the terminal meeting of the Council immediately preceding, to be communicated to each member of the Society.
